

Spiritual Passivity, Biblical Evangelism, and Military Conquest

Emotional passivity, assertiveness, or Aggression

- 1. A limp handshake communicates that you are bigger and better than me. Maybe smarter or stronger but, I am subservient. I bow to you.
- 2. A firm handshake communicates mutual respect. Direct eye contact, honor for honor, and healthy boundaries and expectations.
- 3. A power squeeze handshake says, I will dominate. You are inferior, and you must submit.

Passive Religion	-	-	Assertive Faith	-	-	Aggressive Crusade
Anabaptist	-	-	Conservative			Separatists
Mennonites			Evangelical			Waco,
Amish			Fundamentalists			resistance to conformity
No self defense
No military

Turn the other cheek vs put on the armor! - - Matt 5:39, Eph 6:10

Love your enemy vs fight the good fight. - - Matt 5:44, 1 Tim 6:12

“Sloppy Agape” means having no boundaries, walk on me, use me, I am your slave. Is there a time when God may lead you humbly surrender, serve, sacrifice and give everything to show love to a lost sinner?
(should a grandma raise an irresponsible drug addicts child?)

Deus Vult is Latin for “God wills it”. Tattooed on the secty of defense, and chanted by the Crusaders in 1096 AD. A society of knights, with a fellowship of chivalry. A Divine providence to defend the Holy Land and all Christendom from Islamic world dominance.